The walking dead.

Some people may say what "The walking dead" is a film about zombies but as for me it's about true friendship and support. If you like psychology you really should watch this film because it's about people in stressful situations. I like this film because of emotions. Usually I cry when I watch "The walking dead". People who support each other and fight together against their anxieties and fears. It's ~~could~~ helps you solve your problems.

Surely, I like "The walking dead" and because of actors! My favourite is Norman Reedus, who acts man with name Daryl Dixon. Daryl was really shy and wild person but with time he had changed. I wanna talk with Norman about his character and thoughts about him.

I recommend this film because it's about people's decision, about feelings and truly love. It helps you understand yourself clearly.
